

BANISHING THE REPORTERS.

THREE MORE CORRESPONDENTS ARE TURNED OUT OF FRANCE.

Offices Not Tolerated in Them Which the Paris Newspapers Commit with Impunity—Rumors that Proceedings Will be Stopped—Against for Lack of Evidence—The Panama Prisoners Well Treated, but Not Allowed to Leave the Country.

PARIS, Jan. 16.—The office for which three correspondents have been banished from France was committed in a most aggravated form. In a daily issue of Le Matin that paper printed a series of letters from the Countess Menabrea, the divorced wife of Count Carlo Menabrea, who is the son of the late Italian Ambassador at Paris. It is asserted in these letters that the Countess had been banished from France for lack of evidence.

The Prefect of Police said today that he had found among the papers of the Austrian correspondent arrested yesterday proof that he was an agent of the Triple Alliance. No one need feel compelled to believe this statement. I make no such statement. I have merely to state that I have seen the papers and that I have seen the papers of the Austrian correspondent arrested yesterday.

There have been many reports that Floquet and President are preparing revenge against Carnot, who they regard as responsible for their downfall. One newspaper to-day described an alleged banquet of Floquet's friends at which the plan was arranged. Floquet has not spoken publicly since his defeat last week. He authorized an agent to respond to the attacks of his enemies, but he refused to do so.

The general air of expectancy in Paris continues. People are waiting for they know not what, which may happen to-morrow, next week, or not at all.

The reports that the Emperor and his associates are treated with harshness do not apply to their present treatment in the prison of Mazas. Their cells are well warmed and their beds almost luxurious. The authorities have allowed them to receive visits from their friends, but they are not allowed to receive letters from their friends.

Mr. Ribot replied at length to the interpellation. Since the Chamber has been in session, he said, the Government has been watching with vigilance all the movements of the Emperor and his associates. He said that the Emperor and his associates were being treated with the same respect as the Emperor and his associates.

Mr. Ribot replied at length to the interpellation. Since the Chamber has been in session, he said, the Government has been watching with vigilance all the movements of the Emperor and his associates. He said that the Emperor and his associates were being treated with the same respect as the Emperor and his associates.

Mr. Ribot replied at length to the interpellation. Since the Chamber has been in session, he said, the Government has been watching with vigilance all the movements of the Emperor and his associates. He said that the Emperor and his associates were being treated with the same respect as the Emperor and his associates.

MR. SANFORD ACTS AT LAST.

HE PROCLAIMS HIMSELF MAYOR OF LONG ISLAND CITY.

The Board of Aldermen Recognized Him and Removed Alder Clerk Burke—Mr. Sanford Names Ex-Sheriff Golden as Mayor of the City.

Horatio S. Sanford last night issued a proclamation declaring himself Mayor of Long Island City, and organized a city government in opposition to the one being run by Patrick J. Gleason. Here is the proclamation:

On the 8th day of November last, by your vote I was elected Mayor of Long Island City. Through a most audacious perversion of the power vested in me as the canvassing officer of the city, Thomas P. Burke, then City Clerk, made false return of the votes cast for the several candidates for the office of Mayor, which he then the office of the Clerk of the county of Queens, together with a certificate declaring Patrick J. Gleason duly elected Mayor, notwithstanding the fact that by the return on file in the City Clerk's office I received a majority of 180 votes over Patrick J. Gleason.

Contrary to the plain provisions of the statute, advantage was taken by City Clerk Burke of certain provisions of the statute, and he caused to be made a return of the votes cast for the several candidates for the office of Mayor, which he then the office of the Clerk of the county of Queens, together with a certificate declaring Patrick J. Gleason duly elected Mayor, notwithstanding the fact that by the return on file in the City Clerk's office I received a majority of 180 votes over Patrick J. Gleason.

On the 8th day of November last, by your vote I was elected Mayor of Long Island City. Through a most audacious perversion of the power vested in me as the canvassing officer of the city, Thomas P. Burke, then City Clerk, made false return of the votes cast for the several candidates for the office of Mayor, which he then the office of the Clerk of the county of Queens, together with a certificate declaring Patrick J. Gleason duly elected Mayor, notwithstanding the fact that by the return on file in the City Clerk's office I received a majority of 180 votes over Patrick J. Gleason.

On the 8th day of November last, by your vote I was elected Mayor of Long Island City. Through a most audacious perversion of the power vested in me as the canvassing officer of the city, Thomas P. Burke, then City Clerk, made false return of the votes cast for the several candidates for the office of Mayor, which he then the office of the Clerk of the county of Queens, together with a certificate declaring Patrick J. Gleason duly elected Mayor, notwithstanding the fact that by the return on file in the City Clerk's office I received a majority of 180 votes over Patrick J. Gleason.

On the 8th day of November last, by your vote I was elected Mayor of Long Island City. Through a most audacious perversion of the power vested in me as the canvassing officer of the city, Thomas P. Burke, then City Clerk, made false return of the votes cast for the several candidates for the office of Mayor, which he then the office of the Clerk of the county of Queens, together with a certificate declaring Patrick J. Gleason duly elected Mayor, notwithstanding the fact that by the return on file in the City Clerk's office I received a majority of 180 votes over Patrick J. Gleason.

On the 8th day of November last, by your vote I was elected Mayor of Long Island City. Through a most audacious perversion of the power vested in me as the canvassing officer of the city, Thomas P. Burke, then City Clerk, made false return of the votes cast for the several candidates for the office of Mayor, which he then the office of the Clerk of the county of Queens, together with a certificate declaring Patrick J. Gleason duly elected Mayor, notwithstanding the fact that by the return on file in the City Clerk's office I received a majority of 180 votes over Patrick J. Gleason.

On the 8th day of November last, by your vote I was elected Mayor of Long Island City. Through a most audacious perversion of the power vested in me as the canvassing officer of the city, Thomas P. Burke, then City Clerk, made false return of the votes cast for the several candidates for the office of Mayor, which he then the office of the Clerk of the county of Queens, together with a certificate declaring Patrick J. Gleason duly elected Mayor, notwithstanding the fact that by the return on file in the City Clerk's office I received a majority of 180 votes over Patrick J. Gleason.

WHAT TO DO WITH THE CITY HALL.

Mr. De Lancy Suggests Tearing Down the Old Building and Rebuilding on the Site.

Mayor Gilroy yesterday received a visit from Edward E. De Lancy, Secretary of the New York Historical Society, who presented a communication on the proposal to remove the present City Hall to make room for the new municipal building.

Mr. De Lancy says that the Historical Society has been asked to remove the present City Hall to make room for the new municipal building. He says that the Historical Society has been asked to remove the present City Hall to make room for the new municipal building.

Mr. De Lancy says that the Historical Society has been asked to remove the present City Hall to make room for the new municipal building. He says that the Historical Society has been asked to remove the present City Hall to make room for the new municipal building.

Mr. De Lancy says that the Historical Society has been asked to remove the present City Hall to make room for the new municipal building. He says that the Historical Society has been asked to remove the present City Hall to make room for the new municipal building.

Mr. De Lancy says that the Historical Society has been asked to remove the present City Hall to make room for the new municipal building. He says that the Historical Society has been asked to remove the present City Hall to make room for the new municipal building.

Mr. De Lancy says that the Historical Society has been asked to remove the present City Hall to make room for the new municipal building. He says that the Historical Society has been asked to remove the present City Hall to make room for the new municipal building.

Mr. De Lancy says that the Historical Society has been asked to remove the present City Hall to make room for the new municipal building. He says that the Historical Society has been asked to remove the present City Hall to make room for the new municipal building.

Mr. De Lancy says that the Historical Society has been asked to remove the present City Hall to make room for the new municipal building. He says that the Historical Society has been asked to remove the present City Hall to make room for the new municipal building.

Mr. De Lancy says that the Historical Society has been asked to remove the present City Hall to make room for the new municipal building. He says that the Historical Society has been asked to remove the present City Hall to make room for the new municipal building.

FOR SENATOR FROM JERSEY.

JAMES SMITH, JR., NOMINATED BY THE DEMOCRATIC CAUCUS.

Gov. Abbott's Name is Withdrawn at the Last Moment, so There was No Opposition—Sketch of the Successful Candidate.

THRENTON, N. J., Jan. 16.—In place of waiting until the election, a week hence, the Democratic caucus determined to-day to meet at once in joint caucus and make their nomination for United States Senator. This action was due to the efforts of the friends of James Smith, Jr., of Newark, who knew that they had everything to gain by promptness.

The joint caucus, held immediately after the adjournment of the Legislature, convened at 10 o'clock. Twenty minutes later Mr. Smith was the nominee of his party for Senator. Gov. Abbott had no show whatever, and at the last moment withdrew from the contest.

Mr. Smith was born in 1851 in Newark, N. J., and was educated at private schools in his native city up to the time he went to college at Princeton. He was a member of the New Jersey Legislature in 1882, and was elected to the United States Senate in 1888.

Mr. Smith was born in 1851 in Newark, N. J., and was educated at private schools in his native city up to the time he went to college at Princeton. He was a member of the New Jersey Legislature in 1882, and was elected to the United States Senate in 1888.

Mr. Smith was born in 1851 in Newark, N. J., and was educated at private schools in his native city up to the time he went to college at Princeton. He was a member of the New Jersey Legislature in 1882, and was elected to the United States Senate in 1888.

Mr. Smith was born in 1851 in Newark, N. J., and was educated at private schools in his native city up to the time he went to college at Princeton. He was a member of the New Jersey Legislature in 1882, and was elected to the United States Senate in 1888.

Mr. Smith was born in 1851 in Newark, N. J., and was educated at private schools in his native city up to the time he went to college at Princeton. He was a member of the New Jersey Legislature in 1882, and was elected to the United States Senate in 1888.

Mr. Smith was born in 1851 in Newark, N. J., and was educated at private schools in his native city up to the time he went to college at Princeton. He was a member of the New Jersey Legislature in 1882, and was elected to the United States Senate in 1888.

A MAJORITY FOR ANNEXATION.

That is the Sentiment that a Canadian Liberal Leader Found in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Mr. Charlton, one of the Liberal leaders and a member of the Canadian Parliament, was at the Capitol to-day interviewing leading members of the House on the subject of closer commercial relations between the United States and Canada.

Mr. Charlton was seen by several members of the House, and he was seen by several members of the House. He was seen by several members of the House, and he was seen by several members of the House.

Mr. Charlton was seen by several members of the House, and he was seen by several members of the House. He was seen by several members of the House, and he was seen by several members of the House.

Mr. Charlton was seen by several members of the House, and he was seen by several members of the House. He was seen by several members of the House, and he was seen by several members of the House.

Mr. Charlton was seen by several members of the House, and he was seen by several members of the House. He was seen by several members of the House, and he was seen by several members of the House.

Mr. Charlton was seen by several members of the House, and he was seen by several members of the House. He was seen by several members of the House, and he was seen by several members of the House.

Mr. Charlton was seen by several members of the House, and he was seen by several members of the House. He was seen by several members of the House, and he was seen by several members of the House.

Mr. Charlton was seen by several members of the House, and he was seen by several members of the House. He was seen by several members of the House, and he was seen by several members of the House.

Mr. Charlton was seen by several members of the House, and he was seen by several members of the House. He was seen by several members of the House, and he was seen by several members of the House.

COLLECTOR AND POSTMASTER.

ANTI-SNAPPERS EXPECT TO GET THESE TWO OFFICES.

That's Enough, They Say—They Don't Want the Earth, and They Hope President Cleveland Will Not Give Them the Surveys.

It was made known yesterday that Mr. Cleveland and one or two big wigs in the anti-snapper camp have discussed the prospective distribution of the Federal patronage of the port of New York. A number of the leading anti-snappers have been impatient since election day to ascertain just what "recognition" their friends have been given.

Mr. Cleveland was informed by them that he should certainly give the anti-snappers the offices of Collector and Postmaster. It is very likely that Postmaster Van Cotte's place will be filled first, and then the Collector's place.

Mr. Cleveland was informed by them that he should certainly give the anti-snappers the offices of Collector and Postmaster. It is very likely that Postmaster Van Cotte's place will be filled first, and then the Collector's place.

Mr. Cleveland was informed by them that he should certainly give the anti-snappers the offices of Collector and Postmaster. It is very likely that Postmaster Van Cotte's place will be filled first, and then the Collector's place.

Mr. Cleveland was informed by them that he should certainly give the anti-snappers the offices of Collector and Postmaster. It is very likely that Postmaster Van Cotte's place will be filled first, and then the Collector's place.

Mr. Cleveland was informed by them that he should certainly give the anti-snappers the offices of Collector and Postmaster. It is very likely that Postmaster Van Cotte's place will be filled first, and then the Collector's place.

Mr. Cleveland was informed by them that he should certainly give the anti-snappers the offices of Collector and Postmaster. It is very likely that Postmaster Van Cotte's place will be filled first, and then the Collector's place.

Mr. Cleveland was informed by them that he should certainly give the anti-snappers the offices of Collector and Postmaster. It is very likely that Postmaster Van Cotte's place will be filled first, and then the Collector's place.